

Brain Warfare

BRAIN WARFARE

Written by
Pastor Keith Joel Walker

Introduction

In today's world, we find ourselves in the midst of a spiritual battle unlike any other. The minds of our children are under siege, targeted by ideologies that stand in stark opposition to the Word of God. This commentary serves as a guide for Apostolic Pentecostal preachers to address the critical issues facing our youth and to equip the church to stand firm against the encroaching darkness. We must take a biblical holiness stance against the LGBTQ agenda, which we recognize as an abomination to the Lord Jesus Christ. This movement is not merely a cultural phenomenon; it is a cultic force attempting to brainwash the minds of our youth and lead them astray.

Chapter 1 The War on the Mind

Scripture Reference: Romans 12:2 (KJV)

“And be not conformed to this world: but be ye transformed by the renewing of your mind, that ye may prove what is that good, and acceptable, and perfect, will of God.”

In this age of confusion, the enemy seeks to warp the minds of our young people through a relentless barrage of ideologies—liberalism, woke culture, and the LGBTQ agenda. These movements aim to reshape the understanding of morality, gender, and relationships, leading our children away from the truth of God’s Word.

Key Points:

- Awareness of Ideological Infiltration: Recognize the tactics used to infiltrate schools and media, promoting ideas contrary to biblical teachings. The indoctrination of our youth with these ideologies is not just a social issue; it is a spiritual war.
- The Importance of Mind Renewal: Emphasize the necessity of renewing the mind through the Word of God, allowing it to transform thoughts and beliefs. The truth of Scripture must be the foundation upon which our children build their identities.

Chapter 2

The Biblical Foundation of Gender and Marriage

Scripture Reference: Genesis 1:27 (KJV)

“So God created man in his own image, in the image of God created he him; male and female created he them.”

God's design for humanity is clear—He created two distinct genders and ordained marriage as a sacred covenant between a man and a woman. Any deviation from this divine blueprint is not only a rejection of God's authority but also leads to spiritual and societal decay.

Key Points:

- Affirmation of Biblical Truths: Reinforce the biblical definition of gender and marriage as foundational truths that cannot be altered. If you are born a male, that is what God created you to be. If you are created to be a female, that is your God-given identity.
- Condemnation of Sexual Perversion: Address the seriousness of sin, including homosexuality and other sexual immorality, as outlined in Leviticus 18 and Romans 1. These practices are not just different lifestyles; they are abominations in the eyes of God and lead to destruction.

Chapter 3

The Role of the Church in the Battle

Scripture Reference: Ephesians 5:1-13 (KJV)

“Be ye therefore followers of God, as dear children;

and walk in love, as Christ also hath loved us...”

The church must take a stand against the moral decline and the brainwashing of our youth. As Apostolic Pentecostals, we are called to be a light in the darkness, proclaiming the truth of the Gospel and equipping families to resist the lies of the enemy.

Key Points:

- Call to Action: Encourage congregations to engage in spiritual warfare through prayer, fasting, and teaching. We must not remain silent while our children are led into deception.
- Empowerment of Families: Provide resources and support for parents to educate their children about biblical values. The responsibility to teach our children lies within the family unit, and the church must support this endeavor.

Chapter 4

Guarding Our Minds

Scripture Reference: 2 Corinthians 10:4-5 (KJV)

“For the weapons of our warfare are not carnal, but mighty through God to the pulling down of strong holds; Casting down imaginations, and every high thing that exalteth itself against the knowledge of God...”

To combat the mental and spiritual attacks from the enemy, we must guard our minds and the minds of our children. This involves recognizing the influence of media, entertainment, and secular ideologies that promote a reprobate mindset.

Key Points:

- Discernment in Media Consumption: Encourage critical thinking and discernment regarding the content consumed by our youth. The media often promotes ideologies that are antithetical to biblical truth, and we must teach our children to discern these influences.
- Spiritual Warfare: Equip the church with the tools necessary for spiritual warfare, emphasizing prayer and the authority of Scripture. We must actively engage in the fight against the demonic lies that seek to steal the identities of our youth.

Chapter 5

The Rise of the Anti-Christ and Global Deception

Scripture Reference: 2 Thessalonians 2:1-10 (KJV)

“Now we beseech you, brethren, by the coming of our Lord Jesus Christ, and by our gathering together unto him, that ye be not soon shaken in mind, or be troubled, neither by spirit, nor by word, nor by letter as from us, as that the day of Christ is at hand. Let no man deceive you by any means: for that day shall not come, except there come a falling away first, and that man of sin be revealed, the son of perdition...”

As we approach the last days, we must understand that the Anti-Christ will control the masses through deception and delusion. He will manipulate minds through disinformation and lying wonders, brainwashing the masses and marking their minds with demonic ideologies. The CIA and other intelligence agencies have long engaged in cultic programs designed to manipulate and control, including paranormal and psychological operations.

Key Points:

- Awareness of Global Manipulation: The rise of social media platforms like TikTok and Facebook is not merely a technological advancement; they are tools through which globalist agendas infiltrate and control the minds of the youth. These platforms serve as vehicles for disinformation and manipulation, often acting as intelligence services that undermine our values and beliefs.
- The Importance of Vigilance: The church must wake up and recognize that we are in the last days. We must protect our children from the influences of these platforms and the messages they propagate. The prison of the mind is more dangerous than any physical confinement, and we must equip our youth with the knowledge of the Word of God to combat these influences.

Additional Evidence from the MKULTRA Collection

The newly released collection “CIA and the Behavioral Sciences: Mind Control, Drug Experiments and MKULTRA” contains a wealth of evidence that further elucidates the extent and nature of the CIA’s mind control experiments. Here are more specific pieces of evidence and insights derived from the collection that highlight the program’s scope, methods, and implications:

1. Documented Use of LSD in Covert Operations:

- A series of documents detail the CIA’s procurement and distribution of LSD, including specific memos from Sidney Gottlieb requesting large quantities of the drug for experimental purposes. One document from 1955 explicitly outlines the CIA’s intent to use LSD as a “truth serum” in interrogations, demonstrating the agency’s belief in the drug’s potential to extract information.

2. Project Subprojects and Collaborations:

- The collection includes records of multiple MKULTRA subprojects, such as Subproject 68, which involved the use of LSD on unwitting subjects in various settings, including bars and social gatherings. This subproject aimed to study the effects of LSD on behavior and personality, often without the consent or knowledge of the subjects involved.

3. The Role of Prominent Psychiatrists:

- Documents reveal the involvement of well-known psychiatrists in the MKULTRA program, including Dr. Ewen Cameron, who conducted experiments on patients at the Allan Memorial Institute. Cameron's techniques, such as "psychic driving," involved intensive drug regimens and prolonged sensory deprivation, leading to severe psychological trauma for many subjects. The collection includes reports detailing the long-term effects on patients, some of whom experienced permanent changes in personality and cognitive function.

4. Interrogation Techniques and Their Evolution:

- The collection features the CIA's KUBARK interrogation manual, which outlines techniques that were influenced by MKULTRA findings. The manual describes methods such as sensory deprivation, psychological manipulation, and the use of drugs to induce compliance. This document serves as a direct link between MKULTRA experiments and later U.S. interrogation practices, including those used in the Vietnam War and at Guantanamo Bay.

5. Ethical Violations and Lack of Oversight:

- Memos and reports highlight the lack of oversight and ethical considerations in MKULTRA projects. For instance, a 1965 report notes that many experiments were conducted without the approval of an ethics board, and subjects were often unaware they were part of a study. This lack of oversight was justified by the CIA's belief that the ends justified the means in the context of national security.

6. Testimonies from Victims:

- The collection includes testimonies from individuals who were subjected to MKULTRA experiments, detailing their experiences of being drugged and manipulated. These accounts provide personal evidence of the psychological and physical harm inflicted on unwitting subjects, emphasizing the human cost of the CIA's experiments.

7. International Collaboration:

- Documents reveal that the CIA sought collaboration with foreign intelligence agencies, sharing techniques and findings related to mind control. A 1953 memo discusses a meeting with Canadian intelligence officials to exchange information on psychological warfare, demonstrating the international dimension of MKULTRA and its implications for global intelligence practices.

8. Impact on Legal and Medical Communities:

- The collection also includes correspondence between CIA officials and legal experts discussing the potential legal ramifications of MKULTRA. This correspondence reflects an awareness of the ethical and legal violations inherent in the program, as well as the potential for future lawsuits from victims.

9. Destruction of Evidence:

- A significant portion of the collection discusses the destruction of records by Sidney Gottlieb and Richard Helms in 1973, which was an attempt to cover up the extent of MKULTRA's abuses. The surviving documents, therefore, represent only a fraction of the total records, raising questions about the full scope of the program and the extent of the CIA's efforts to conceal its actions.

10. Long-Term Psychological Effects:

- Several documents analyze the long-term psychological effects on subjects who were part of MKULTRA experiments, with findings indicating that many individuals experienced severe mental health issues, including PTSD, depression, and anxiety disorders. These documents serve as empirical evidence of the program's impact on human subjects, highlighting the ethical implications of conducting such experiments without consent.

Conclusion

The additional evidence from the MKULTRA collection underscores the program's extensive reach and the profound ethical violations committed under the guise of national security. It illustrates the chilling reality of how scientific inquiry can be manipulated for nefarious purposes, leading to devastating consequences for individuals and society.

The collection serves as a critical resource for understanding not only the historical context of CIA operations but also the ongoing debates surrounding ethics in research, the responsibilities of medical professionals, and the implications for contemporary practices in interrogation and psychological research. As we reflect on these revelations, it becomes imperative to advocate for transparency, accountability, and ethical standards in all areas of research and intelligence operations.

Conclusion

Standing Firm in Faith

As we navigate these turbulent times, let us remember the words of Paul in Ephesians 6:10-18, urging us to put on the whole armor of God. Our battle is not against flesh and blood but against spiritual wickedness in high places. We must stand firm in our faith, proclaiming the truth of God's Word and protecting the minds of our children from the brain warfare that seeks to lead them astray.

Final Exhortation

Let us rise as a united body of Christ, proclaiming the truth in love and standing against the tide of moral relativism. Together, we can guard our minds and the minds of our youth, ensuring that they remain anchored in the Word of God. We must boldly declare that anything outside of covenant biblical marriage between a male and female is not only wrong but is a direct rebellion against the Lord Jesus Christ.

Let us not allow our youth to be deceived by the lies of the enemy; let us empower them with the truth of God's Word, for it is the only foundation that can lead them to salvation (Acts 2:38) and eternal life.

In His Service,

Keith Joel Walker

This document serves as a comprehensive commentary for Apostolic Pentecostal preachers, addressing the spiritual challenges faced by the youth today and providing biblical guidance for navigating these issues.
