AIN'T NO MONKEY GONNA STOP THIS 510

ELDER KEITH JOEL WALKER

AIN'T NO MONKEY GONNA STOP THIS SHOW

Written by Elder Keith Joel Walker

The Rise of the True Apostolic Pentecostal Jesus Name Church–Acts 2:38, One God, His Name is Jesus and Holiness Within & Without

Introduction

The Trinitarian church, often referred to as Babylon, is collapsing all around us. In contrast, the true Apostolic Pentecostal church of Acts 2:38 is rising, bringing healing in her wings. Just as the day of Pentecost marked a significant outpouring of the Holy Ghost With the evidence of speaking in tongues, we are witnessing a fresh move of God today.

The Outpouring of the Holy Ghost with the Evidence of Speaking in Tongues

As prophesied in Acts 2:17, God is pouring out His Spirit upon all flesh. Peter, preaching from the text of the book of Joel, declared, "These are not drunk as ye suppose, seeing it is but the third hour of the day. But this is that which was spoken by the prophet Joel."

In the last days, God promised to pour out His Spirit upon all flesh, leading to prophecy and the speaking of tongues as the Spirit gives utterance. This is the fulfillment of being born of the Spirit, evidenced by speaking in tongues.

The Promise of the Holy Ghost and Fire with the Evidence of Speaking in Tongues

The promise of the Holy Spirit was foretold in Luke 24:49: "Behold, I send the promise of my Father upon you." This promise is reiterated in Acts 2:17: "I will pour out my Spirit upon all flesh." Jesus reassured us in John 14:16-18, saying, "I will not leave you comfortless; I will come to you."

The Comforter, sent in His name, is the Holy Ghost (John 14:26, Matthew 1:2-23) Emanuel God with us. In John 14:20, He states, "I am in you." Matthew 3:11 further affirms that Jesus will baptize us with his Holy Ghost and fire.

Understanding the Nature of God

It is essential to recognize that Jesus is the Holy Ghost. He will baptize us with His Spirit. Jesus is God, and God is Spirit, as outlined in John 4:22-24. John 3:6 reminds us that "that which is born of the Spirit is spirit."

2 Corinthians 3:17 declares, "Now the Lord is that Spirit." Jesus Christ is that Spirit in His deity. The title "Holy Ghost" refers to God; however, the idea of the Holy Ghost as the third divine person of a Trinitarian Godhead is a false doctrine rooted in Catholic teachings. This concept creates a division in the nature of God, suggesting the existence of another god.

The Oneness of God

Jesus is 100% God, and there is only one God. Romans 3:30 affirms the oneness of God, as does Galatians 3:20. 1 Timothy 2:5 states, "For there is one God, and one mediator between God and men, the man Christ Jesus."

1 Timothy 3:16 emphasizes the mystery of godliness: "God was manifest in the flesh." 1 Timothy 1:17 proclaims, "Now unto the King eternal, immortal, invisible, the only wise God, be honor and glory forever and ever. Amen."

Conclusion: The Jesus-Only Message

In conclusion, we must embrace the Jesus-only message. The Apostolic Pentecostal church is rising, empowered by the Holy Spirit, as we adhere to the truth of God's Word. There is no room for the Trinitarian doctrine in our understanding of God. We serve a God who is one, and His name is Jesus.

Let us stand firm in our faith, proclaiming the truth of the Gospel as we witness the outpouring of the Holy Spirit in our lives and communities. The true church is rising, and with it comes the promise of healing, restoration, and the power of God at work among us.

Ain't No Monkey Gonna Stop This Show

Introduction

Today, I want to talk to you about resilience, determination, and the unwavering power of God in our lives. The title of my message is "Ain't No Monkey Gonna Stop This Show." In a world filled with distractions, obstacles, and challenges, we must remember that no weapon formed against us will prosper, as declared in Isaiah 54:17.

The Assurance of God's Protection

Isaiah 54:17 states: "No weapon that is formed against you shall prosper; and every tongue that shall rise against you in judgment you shall condemn."

Let's break this verse down a bit. The Hebrew word for "formed" is רַצִי (yatsar), which means "to fashion" or "to create." This implies that weapons may be crafted against us, but they are not created with the power to succeed.

The word "against" in Hebrew is לַע (al), which means "upon" or "against." It signifies opposition or hostility. However, the promise is clear: no weapon fashioned against us will succeed.

God is For Us

In Romans 8:31, we read: "What shall we then say to these things? If God be for us, who can be against us?"

The Greek word for "against" is kata (κατά), which means "down from," "against," or "according to." This reinforces the idea that while challenges may come from various directions, they cannot overpower the one who stands with God.

The Metaphor of the Monkey

Now, let's delve into the metaphor of the monkey. In many folk tales, monkeys are often depicted as mischievous creatures that cause trouble, create distractions, and sometimes even steal the show. Just as a monkey might swing from branch to branch, trying to disrupt the peace, we face distractions in our lives that attempt to derail us from God's purpose.

One old fable tells of a monkey who tried to take over a village. He would jump from tree to tree, causing chaos and mischief. The villagers, weary of his antics, came together and devised a plan to outsmart him. They realized that the monkey could not resist shiny objects. So, they set a trap with shiny fruits, and when the monkey reached for them, he got caught. This fable teaches us that while distractions may come, we have the wisdom and strength to overcome them.

The Power of God's Promises

In the face of adversity, we must remember that God's promises are our strength. 2 Corinthians 10:4 tells us that "the weapons of our warfare are not carnal, but mighty through God to the pulling down of strongholds."

When the monkey comes to disrupt our show, we must stand firm in faith, knowing that we are equipped with divine weapons. The enemy may try to distract us, but we have the power of prayer, the Word of God, and the Holy Ghost to guide us.

Old Folk Tales of Triumph

Another story from folklore illustrates this point well. There was once a little ant who faced a massive elephant. The elephant would stomp around, trying to intimidate the ant. But the ant stood its ground, believing in its strength and purpose. In time, the ant found a way to work with its fellow ants, and together they overcame the elephant's attempts to dominate.

This story reminds us that no matter how big the obstacle may seem, when we work together in faith and unity, we can overcome any challenge.

Conclusion: Stand Strong in Faith

As we conclude, let us remember: Ain't no monkey gonna stop this show! No weapon formed against you shall prosper, and if God is for us, who can be against us?

In the face of distractions and challenges, let us hold on to the promises of God and the strength He provides. We are more than conquerors through Him that loved us (Romans 8:37).

So, when life throws its monkeys at you, remember that you have the authority and Power of the Holy Ghost (Acts 1:4-8, Acts 2:4) with the evidence of speaking in tongues the backing of Jesus the Almighty God. Stand firm, stay focused, and let your light shine brightly.

Let us pray for strength, wisdom, and the ability to see through the distractions that life may bring. Together, we will continue this show, empowered by the Spirit of God!

The Tortoise and the Hare

In one of Aesop's famous fables, the swift hare boasts about how fast he is and challenges the slow-moving tortoise to a race. Confident in his speed, the hare takes a nap during the race, believing he has plenty of time to win. Meanwhile, the tortoise steadily plods along and ultimately crosses the finish line first.

Metaphoric Meaning: This tale illustrates that persistence and determination can triumph over arrogance and distraction. Just as the tortoise remained focused on the finish line, we too must stay committed to our purpose, knowing that no distraction (or "monkey") can derail us if we keep moving forward in faith.

The Lion and the Mouse

In another classic fable, a mighty lion catches a tiny mouse. The mouse pleads for mercy, promising to help the lion someday. The lion, amused, lets the mouse go. Later, the lion finds himself trapped in a hunter's net. The little mouse, hearing the lion's roars, rushes to help. With its sharp teeth, the mouse gnaws through the ropes, freeing the lion.

Metaphoric Meaning: This story teaches us that even the smallest among us can make a significant impact. We may face challenges that seem insurmountable, but when we rely on God and the support of others, we can overcome any obstacle. No "monkey" or distraction can stop the show when we work together and trust in one another.

The Fox and the Grapes

In this fable, a hungry fox sees a bunch of grapes hanging high on a vine. He jumps and jumps but cannot reach them. Frustrated, he finally walks away, muttering that the grapes are probably sour anyway.

Metaphoric Meaning: This tale highlights the tendency to dismiss what we cannot have. The fox's attitude reflects how distractions can lead us to give up on our goals. Instead of succumbing to frustration or negativity, we must remember that with God's help, we can reach our "grapes"—our dreams and aspirations—without letting any "monkey" deter us from our path.

The Boy Who Cried Wolf

In this story, a shepherd boy repeatedly tricks the villagers into thinking a wolf is attacking his sheep. When a wolf finally does appear, the villagers do not believe him, and the sheep are lost.

Metaphoric Meaning: This fable warns against the dangers of losing credibility through deceit. It reminds us that our words and actions must align with truth. In our spiritual journey, we must be authentic and sincere, for when we face real challenges, we need the support of others to stand with us. No "monkey" can stop our show if we are truthful and trustworthy.

The Ant and the Grasshopper

In this fable, the industrious ant works hard all summer to store food for the winter, while the carefree grasshopper sings and plays. When winter arrives, the grasshopper finds itself starving, while the ant is well-prepared. Metaphoric Meaning: This story emphasizes the importance of preparation and diligence. While the grasshopper was distracted by fun, the ant stayed focused on its goals. In our lives, we must prioritize our spiritual growth and focus on the tasks God has set before us. No "monkey" can stop our show if we are diligent and prepared for the challenges ahead.

Conclusion: Embracing Our Journey

As we reflect on these fables, let us remember that life's distractions may come in many forms, but they cannot stop our show. With determination, unity, authenticity, and preparation, we can overcome any challenge that arises.

Ain't no monkey gonna stop this show! We are empowered by God's promises, and together, we can achieve great things. Let us keep our eyes on the prize and continue to move forward in faith, knowing that our victory is assured.

The Little Engine That Could

This classic tale tells the story of a small blue engine that is tasked with pulling a heavy train over a mountain. Despite its size and the doubts of larger engines, the little engine confidently repeats, "I think I can, I think I can," as it struggles up the hill. With perseverance and faith in itself, the little engine successfully reaches the top and delivers the cargo.

Metaphoric Meaning: The little engine embodies the spirit of determination and self-belief. Even when faced with seemingly insurmountable challenges, we must hold onto our faith and keep pushing forward, knowing that no "monkey" or obstacle can stop us if we believe in ourselves and trust in God.

The Crow and the Pitcher

In this fable, a thirsty crow finds a pitcher with a little water at the bottom. Unable to reach the water, the crow drops pebbles into the pitcher one by one. With each pebble, the water rises until the crow can finally drink.

Metaphoric Meaning: This story illustrates the power of ingenuity and persistence. The crow did not give up when faced with a challenge; instead, it found a creative solution. Similarly, when distractions or obstacles arise, we must think outside the box and remain focused on our goals. No "monkey" can stop our show when we approach challenges with creativity and determination.

The Farmer and the Stork

In this fable, a farmer sets a trap to catch the cranes that are eating his crops. When he catches a stork in the trap, the stork pleads for its life, claiming innocence and asking to be released. The farmer responds that the stork is guilty by association with the cranes.

Metaphoric Meaning: This tale teaches us about the importance of choosing our companions wisely. We may find ourselves in trouble due to the company we keep. In our spiritual journey, we must surround ourselves with those who uplift and encourage us. If we associate with distractions or negativity (the "monkeys"), we risk losing our way. Let us be mindful of our relationships and remain focused on our divine purpose.

The Goose That Laid the Golden Eggs

In this fable, a farmer discovers that his goose lays a golden egg every day. Greedy for more wealth, he decides to kill the goose to get all the gold at once. However, when he opens the goose, he finds it empty and loses the source of his fortune.

Metaphoric Meaning: This story warns against greed and impatience. The farmer's desire for immediate gain led to his downfall. In our lives, we may encounter temptations that distract us from our true blessings. We must remain grateful for what we have and trust in God's timing. No "monkey" can stop our show if we practice patience and contentment, knowing that God will provide.

The Dog and His Reflection

In this fable, a dog carrying a bone sees its reflection in the water. Mistaking it for another dog with a bigger bone, the dog barks and tries to grab the bone from the other dog, only to lose the bone it already had.

Metaphoric Meaning: This tale teaches us about the dangers of envy and distraction. The dog lost what it had because it was focused on what it perceived as better. In our spiritual lives, we must avoid comparisons and distractions that lead us away from our blessings. No "monkey" can stop our show if we remain focused on our own journey and appreciate what God has given us.

The Wolf in Sheep's Clothing

In this fable, a hungry wolf disguises itself as a sheep to infiltrate the flock. It successfully deceives the sheep until it reveals its true nature and attacks.

Metaphoric Meaning: This story reminds us to be vigilant against deception and distractions that may appear harmless but can lead us astray. We must stay rooted in our faith and be discerning about what influences we allow into our lives. No "monkey" can stop our show if we remain alert and anchored in God's truth.

The Power of Resilience in the Holy Ghost with the Evidence of Speaking in Tongues

As we reflect on these fables, let us remember that life's distractions and challenges may come in many forms, but they cannot stop our show. With determination, patience, and faith, we can overcome any obstacle.

Ain't No Monkey Gonna Stop This Show

Introduction

Today, I want to talk to you about resilience, determination, and the unwavering power of God in our lives. The title of my message is "Ain't No Monkey Gonna Stop This Show." In a world filled with distractions, obstacles, and challenges, we must remember that no weapon formed against us will prosper, as declared in Isaiah 54:17.

The Assurance of God's Protection

Isaiah 54:17 states: "No weapon that is formed against you shall prosper; and every tongue that shall rise against you in judgment you shall condemn."

Let's break this verse down a bit. The Hebrew word for "formed" is רַצִי (yatsar), which means "to fashion" or "to create." This implies that weapons may be crafted against us, but they are not created with the power to succeed.

The word "against" in Hebrew is לָע (al), which means "upon" or "against." It signifies opposition or hostility. However, the promise is clear: no weapon fashioned against us will succeed. God is For Us

In Romans 8:31, we read: "What shall we then say to these things? If God be for us, who can be against us?"

The Greek word for "against" is kata ($\kappa \alpha \tau \dot{\alpha}$), which means "down from," "against," or "according to." This reinforces the idea that while challenges may come from various directions, they cannot overpower the one who stands with God.

The Metaphor of the Monkey

Now, let's delve into the metaphor of the monkey. In many folk tales, monkeys are often depicted as mischievous creatures that cause trouble, create distractions, and sometimes even steal the show. Just as a monkey might swing from branch to branch, trying to disrupt the peace, we face distractions in our lives that attempt to derail us from God's purpose. One old fable tells of a monkey who tried to take over a village. He would jump from tree to tree, causing chaos and mischief. The villagers, weary of his antics, came together and devised a plan to outsmart him. They realized that the monkey could not resist shiny objects. So, they set a trap with shiny fruits, and when the monkey reached for them, he got caught. This fable teaches us that while distractions may come, we have the wisdom and strength to overcome them.

The Power of God's Promises

In the face of adversity, we must remember that God's promises are our strength. 2 Corinthians 10:4 tells us that "the weapons of our warfare are not carnal, but mighty through God to the pulling down of strongholds."

When the monkey comes to disrupt our show, we must stand firm in faith, knowing that we are equipped with divine weapons. The enemy may try to distract us, but we have the power of prayer, the Word of God, and the Holy Ghost to guide us.

Old Folk Tales of Triumph

Another story from folklore illustrates this point well. There was once a little ant who faced a massive elephant. The elephant would stomp around, trying to intimidate the ant. But the ant stood its ground, believing in its strength and purpose. In time, the ant found a way to work with its fellow ants, and together they overcame the elephant's attempts to dominate.

This story reminds us that no matter how big the obstacle may seem, when we work together in faith and unity, we can overcome any challenge.

Conclusion: Stand Strong in Faith

As we conclude, let us remember: Ain't no monkey gonna stop this show! No weapon formed against you shall prosper, and if God is for us, who can be against us?

In the face of distractions and challenges, let us hold on to the promises of God and the strength He provides. We are more than conquerors through Him that loved us (Romans 8:37).

So, when life throws its monkeys at you, remember that you have the authority and the backing of the Almighty God. Stand firm, stay focused, and let your light shine brightly.

Let us pray for strength, wisdom, and the ability to see through the distractions that life may bring. Together, we will continue this show, empowered by the Spirit of God. ACTS 1:4-8

Ain't no monkey gonna stop this show! We are empowered by God's promises, and together, we can achieve great things. Let us keep our eyes on the prize and continue to move forward in faith, knowing that our victory is in Jesus.

No One Monkey Can Stop the Show

Introduction

Today, I want to talk to you about resilience, determination, and the unwavering power of God in our lives. The title of my message is "Ain't No Monkey Gonna Stop This Show." In a world filled with distractions, obstacles, and challenges, we must remember that no weapon formed against us will prosper, as declared in Isaiah 54:17.

The Assurance of God's Protection

Isaiah 54:17 states: "No weapon that is formed against you shall prosper; and every tongue that shall rise against you in judgment you shall condemn."

Let's break this verse down a bit. The Hebrew word for

"formed" is רַצָּי (yatsar), which means "to fashion" or "to create." This implies that weapons may be crafted against us, but they are not created with the power to succeed.

The word "against" in Hebrew is לָע (al), which means "upon" or "against." It signifies opposition or hostility. However, the promise is clear: no weapon fashioned against us will succeed.

God is For Us

In Romans 8:31, we read: "What shall we then say to these things? If God be for us, who can be against us?"

The Greek word for "against" is kata (κατά), which means "down from," "against," or "according to." This reinforces the idea that while challenges may come from various directions, they cannot overpower the one who stands with God.

The Metaphor of the Monkey

Now, let's delve into the metaphor of the monkey. In many folk tales, monkeys are often depicted as mischievous creatures that cause trouble, create distractions, and sometimes even steal the show. Just as a monkey might swing from branch to branch, trying to disrupt the peace, we face distractions in our lives that attempt to derail us from God's purpose.

One old fable tells of a monkey who tried to take over a village. He would jump from tree to tree, causing chaos and mischief. The villagers, weary of his antics, came together and devised a plan to outsmart him. They realized that the monkey could not resist shiny objects. So, they set a trap with shiny fruits, and when the monkey reached for them, he got caught. This fable teaches us that while distractions may come, we have the wisdom and strength to overcome them.

The Power of God's Promises

In the face of adversity, we must remember that God's promises are our strength. 2 Corinthians 10:4 tells us that "the weapons of our warfare are not carnal, but mighty through God to the pulling down of strongholds."

When the monkey comes to disrupt our show, we must stand firm in faith, knowing that we are equipped with divine weapons. The enemy may try to distract us, but we have the power of prayer, the Word of God, and the Holy Ghost to guide us.

Old Folk Tales of Triumph

Another story from folklore illustrates this point well. There was once a little ant who faced a massive elephant. The elephant would stomp around, trying to intimidate the ant. But the ant stood its ground, believing in its strength and purpose. In time, the ant found a way to work with its fellow ants, and together they overcame the elephant's attempts to dominate.

This story reminds us that no matter how big the obstacle may seem, when we work together in faith and unity, we can overcome any challenge.

The Reality of Distractions

However, we must also acknowledge that sometimes, one monkey can indeed stop a show. Distractions can take many forms—doubt, fear, temptation, or even complacency. We must be vigilant and proactive in our spiritual lives to prevent these distractions from derailing us.

For instance, the story of Peter walking on water illustrates this perfectly. When Peter stepped out of the boat to walk toward Jesus, he was doing the impossible. But when he looked at the wind and waves, he began to sink. His focus shifted from Jesus to the distractions around him. Matthew 14:30 says, "But when he saw the wind boisterous, he was afraid; and beginning to sink, he cried, saying, Lord, save me." This teaches us that while we can achieve great things through faith, we must keep our eyes on Jesus to avoid being overwhelmed by distractions.

Conclusion: Stand Strong in Faith

As we conclude, let us remember: Ain't no monkey gonna stop this show! While distractions may come, we have the power of God on our side. If we keep our focus on Him and lean on His promises, we can overcome any obstacle.

In the face of distractions, let us hold onto our faith and keep pushing forward, knowing that no monkey can derail our purpose if we remain steadfast.

Let us pray for strength, wisdom, and the ability to see through the distractions that life may bring. Together, we will continue this show, empowered by the Spirit of God!

One Monkey Can't Stop a Show

Introduction

Today, I want to share a powerful message with you: "One Monkey Can't Stop a Show." In our lives, we often encounter challenges, distractions, and obstacles that may seem overwhelming. However, we must remember that with God on our side, no single distraction, temptation, or setback can derail our purpose or diminish our faith.

The Assurance of God's Protection

Let's begin with Isaiah 54:17, which states: "No weapon that is formed against you shall prosper; and every tongue that shall rise against you in judgment you shall condemn."

The Hebrew word for "formed" is רָצִי (yatsar), meaning "to fashion" or "to create." This assures us that while weapons may be crafted against us, they do not have the power to succeed.

The word "against" in Hebrew is לְע (al), signifying opposition. Yet, God's promise stands firm: no weapon fashioned against us will succeed. God is For Us

In Romans 8:31, we read: "What shall we then say to these things? If God be for us, who can be against us?"

The Greek word for "against" is kata (κατά), which means "down from," "against," or "according to." This reinforces the idea that while challenges may come from various directions, they cannot overpower us if we stand with God.

The Metaphor of the Monkey

Now, let's explore the metaphor of the monkey. In many tales, monkeys symbolize distractions and mischief. They swing from branch to branch, causing chaos and trying to steal the show.

Imagine a monkey jumping around, trying to grab attention and create disorder. Just as this monkey can cause a ruckus, distractions in our lives can attempt to derail us from our divine purpose.

A Fable of the Monkey

Consider the fable of a monkey that wanted to be the star of the show. It jumped around, making noise and trying to outshine the other animals. However, the other animals knew that the real show was about teamwork and unity, not individual antics. They worked together, and despite the monkey's efforts to distract them, they put on a beautiful performance that left the audience in awe.

Metaphoric Meaning: This story teaches us that while one monkey may try to steal the spotlight, it cannot stop the collective effort of a united community. When we stand together in faith and purpose, we can overcome any distraction.

The Reality of Distractions

While one monkey can't stop the show, we must also recognize that distractions can still pose challenges. Just as Peter walked on water toward Jesus, he began to sink when he focused on the wind and waves around him. Matthew 14:30 says, "But when he saw the wind boisterous, he was afraid; and beginning to sink, he cried, saying, Lord, save me." This reminds us that while we can achieve great things through faith, we must keep our eyes on Jesus to avoid being overwhelmed by distractions.

The Power of Focus and Faith

When distractions arise, we must remember the power of focus and faith. Philippians 4:13 declares, "I can do all things through Christ which strengtheneth me." This verse reassures us that no matter the distractions, we can overcome them through the strength we receive from Christ.

In the face of adversity, we must hold onto our faith and keep pushing forward, knowing that no single monkey can derail our purpose. We have the power of prayer, the Word of God, and the Holy Ghost to guide us.

Conclusion: Stand Strong in Faith

As we conclude, let us remember: One monkey can't stop a show! While distractions may come, we have the power of God on our side. If we keep our focus on Him and lean on His promises, we can overcome any obstacle.

Let us pray for strength, wisdom, and the ability to see through the distractions that life may bring. Together, we will continue this show, empowered by the Spirit of God!

> Written by Elder Keith Joel Walker Read and Obey Acts 2:38

whpctuttle.com